

In summary, perhaps public health nurses today face a greater challenge in tuberculosis control services than ever before. They can be counted on to effectively meet these responsibilities in the future.

Ruth A. Gwyn, B. S.
Nursing Consultant
Tuberculosis Control Section
Division of Epidemiology
North Carolina State Board of Health

October 1967